dependent variable is always greatest for the interval containing a probability equal to .5. The instantaneous effect is approximately $b/4$, in which $b$ is the value of the partial logistic regression coefficient.[7]