

Descriptive research: depicts variables as they exist in the world.

Observational studies: consist of watching behaviors in naturalistic and laboratory settings.

Case studies: examine in depth one or more people with a certain characteristic.

Surveys: series of questions to which people respond via a questionnaire or an interview.