

Availability heuristic: estimating the frequency of some event happening, based on how easily we can think of examples of that event.

Egocentrism: tendency to perceive the world from our individual, unique perspective.