

LEARNING CHECK

1. How might we operationally define each of the following constructs? Realize that for each construct, there are many possible ways to operationalize it, more than I've provided in the answers.
  - a) Hostility
A: blood pressure while interacting with another person; self-report measure of the tendency to experience hostility toward others