

Reliability: extent to which a measure produces consistent results.