

Tukey's HSD post hoc test: procedure used after (hence, "post hoc") an F ratio has been calculated. This procedure allows us to learn which group means are significantly different from one another.