

Congressional Humor: Authorizers Versus Appropriators

The tension between those who sit on authorizing committees and those who sit on appropriations committees is pithily characterized by a joke often heard on Capitol Hill:

“Authorizers think they are gods; appropriators know they are gods.”