

RESEARCH ISSUE

Once again, we face the issue of translating the general language found in strategic threat assessments into the quantitative world of risk management and resource allocation. What type of metrics do you think would help resource managers quantify border threat statements?