

Assignment

You are now the head of departmental intelligence. Your boss (whom you played last week) has directed you to develop a plan for collecting and analyzing intelligence to help your organization (your customer) meet the homeland security challenges described in your presentation for the previous chapter. Prepare a 5- to 10-minute PowerPoint presentation that describes the type of intelligence information you need to deliver to your department's action elements (your customers) so they can do their jobs. Highlight the